

Croatians strum

The Croatian embassy brought the Zagreb Guitar Quartet to Ottawa on Tuesday to celebrate the 15th anniversary of the international recognition of the Republic of Croatia. They performed at the National Library and Archives Canada. Left to right is Melita Ivkovi•, Krunoslav Pehar, Mak Grgi• and Tomislav Vasilj.

Here Mak buffs his nails for the second set. His strumming hand has longer nails.

Here Krunoslav and Tomislav fine tune their guitars.

Croatian ambassador Vesela Mr en Kora• sticks to OJ. They also served Croatian wine.

Marko greets the Ambassador of Panama, Romy Vásquez de González. Check out the glam shot on her website.

As the Zagreb Guitar Quartet strummed, Giller Prize-winning author Vincent Lam (below) was reading from Bloodletting and Miraculous Cures just down the hall. The room was packed. Spotted was Green Party leader Elizabeth May's daughter Victoria Kate May.

